

Amendments to the Abstract:

Please replace the Abstract on page 15, with the following amended Abstract:

Abstract Of The Invention

A method and system is provided for extending and displaying the extended ~~provides an~~ extended electronic program guide. The method includes generating that generates at least one recorded material database related to [[of]] recorded material. The method [[and that]] generates [[a]] at least one live stream database regarding at least one of: a current live stream and a future live stream. The method then produces, for display, the extended electronic program guide by integrating data from the at least one live stream database with data from the at least one recorded material database, the extended electronic program guide including information related to the past recorded material and information regarding at least one of the current and future live streams. ~~(or uses a pre-generated live stream database) of live stream data. The live stream database and the recorded material database are integrated to produce an extended electronic program guide. The recorded material can be time shifted data of a predetermined live data stream or can be material derived from a source of digital data.~~